What are your principal areas of interest in City Government?

My principal areas of interest in city government are youth engagement, equitable public services, and environmental sustainability. I'm passionate about making sure young people have a voice in decisions that affect their lives. I also care deeply about equity and ensuring all neighborhoods, regardless of income or demographics, receive fair access to quality services like transportation, libraries, and clean parks. Finally, I'm interested in how Santa Fe policies can combat climate change through green infrastructure, better public transit, and local climate action plans. I believe local government has the power to create real change where people live, and I want to be part of that.

What experience or special knowledge can you bring to your area(s) of interest?

I've volunteered with organizations like Tomorrow's Women and Global Santa Fe, where I developed skills in cross-cultural communication and civic engagement. Through programs like Breakthrough, I've seen firsthand how access to education and resources can change lives for underrepresented youth. I've also studied media literacy and misinformation through the Council of International Educational Exchange, which helps me understand how public trust in government can be built or broken. These experiences give me a unique perspective on equity, inclusion, and how city policies can either uplift or overlook communities. I'm passionate about making sure young voices like mine are reflected.

Please list community organizations to which you belong:

Santa Fe Dreamers Project, Breakthrough Santa Fe, Tomorrow's Women, Global Santa Fe, and the Santa Fe New Mexican
